- Multi-mode DisplayPort® (DP++) enabled computer system with available DisplayPort® port
- USB enabled computer system with available port
- HDMI® enabled display device

Installation

1. Make sure the Host Computer and Display Device are turned off.
2. Connect the DisplayPort Connector to the Host Computer's Video Card.
3. Connect the USB-A Connector on the Adapter to a USB port on the Host Computer.
4. Connect an HDMI Cable (not included) to the HDMI Port on the Adapter and to an HDMI connector on the Display Device.
5. Power on the Display Device.
6. Power on the Host Computer. The Adapter's Power LED will light up.
7. The Host Computer should automatically detect the Display Device.

Note: Driver installation or special setup requirements depend on the connected Display Device. Consult any documentation included with the Display Device.

8. The operating system should also automatically detect and install a new audio output device.
9. If you wish to send audio over HDMI, check the audio properties for the operating system, to make sure the Adapter is set as the default audio device.

Note: This will disable audio output from any speakers/headphones currently connected to the Host Computer.
10. If you do not wish to use audio over HDMI, set the default audio device back to the original audio output device (e.g. sound card) for your system.

FCC Compliance Statement

This equipment has been tested and found to comply with the limits for a Class B digital device, pursuant to part 15 of the FCC Rules. These limits are designed to provide reasonable protection against harmful interference in a residential installation. This equipment generates, uses and can radiate radio frequency energy and, if not installed and used in accordance with the instructions, may cause harmful interference to radio communications. However, there is no guarantee that interference will not occur in a particular installation. If this equipment does cause harmful interference to radio or television reception, which can be determined by turning the equipment off and on, the user is encouraged to try to correct the interference by one or more of the following measures:

- Reorient or relocate the receiving antenna.
- Increase the separation between the equipment and receiver.
- Connect the equipment into an outlet on a circuit different from that to which the receiver is connected.
- Consult the dealer or an experienced radio/TV technician for help

This device complies with part 15 of the FCC Rules. Operation is subject to the following two conditions:

(1) This device may not cause harmful interference, and (2) this device must accept any interference received, including interference that may cause undesired operation. Changes or modifications not expressly approved by StarTech.com could void the user's authority to operate the equipment.

Industry Canada Statement

This Class B digital apparatus complies with Canadian ICES-003.

Cet appareil numérique de la classe [B] est conforme à la norme NMB-003 du Canada.
